Students will learn how to conduct effective monitoring, analyze current and future trends, and evaluate the potential impact of these trends on business communication strategies.	13,5	1
		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC321-2	Behind-the-scenes of an industrial sector - 3 sectors- 3 countries	The course aims to develop students' ability to situate the company in its economic and social environment by identifying the stakeholders of three industrial sectors, the factors which establish a "culture" of the sector and the different sources of information available for communicators.	13,5	1
	UC 322 Theoretical knowledge	ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC322-1	International Market Research	This course aims to give an introduction to market research and its different techniques, showing them how to extrapolate the key findings and transform them into important insights – often on which a whole product development or marketing campaign is based. This course also aims for students to carry out a small research project themselves and present their findings, helping them concretely understand how to construct a methodology, execute the research and present the findings.	15	2
		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC322-2	Semiology	Semiology is the study of signs and during this course you will learn about deciphering these signs. Every time you see an image, we want you to ask yourself - WHAT is making sense? What does it mean? How and why? The goal of the course is to give you the right tools to analyse and answer these very questions. Homework: this course will require to write 3-4 essays and/or presentations as part of your final grade.	13,5	1
		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC322-4	The Power of Chinese Media platforms	Students will gain knowledge on the impact and importance of new media platforms/apps from China across the world and how they are changing the landscape for Brands in their business as well as their marketing strategies-ads, integration, shop-in-shop, partnerships. They will understand the power of these new media and how they are revolutionising the digital space and recognise the leadership coming from China concerning these new models and their influence on consumption (social commerce, social media selling,3rd-party partnerships, in-platform selling, star system...).	13,5	1
		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC322-5	International Consumer Behaviour	The objective of this course is approach consumer behaviour from a psychological and sociological point of view as well as addressing global trends and changing consumer attitudes to motivate students to become consumer experts, becoming passionate about human behaviour and consumerism.	15	1
		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC322-6	International Media economics	This course aims to understand the economy, the media business model, and also to master fundamental notions of media law. It also addresses the major issues facing the media (logic of immediacy, live, fake news, etc.) as well as the working methods of journalists.	13,5	1
		UC 323 Strategic skills	ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC323-1	From marketing to communication strategy	The overall aim of the course is to develop students' understanding of the transition from marketing to communication, while differentiating the two strategic approaches. They will be expected to develop and implement an effective communication strategy based on sound marketing principles.	15
	ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC323-2		How to write a recommendation...and sell it!	Students will be provided with the techniques to build and sell a communication recommendation to reply to briefs, through an effective, engaging and impactful presentation to win new business or sell an idea. The students will learn on several levels: How to structure a presentation; How to design a presentation; How to present a presentation (verbal and non-verbal skills).	9	1
	UC 324 Professional application	ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC324-1	Digital Marketing - phase 1	This course introduces students to the fundamentals of digital marketing, including key channels, consumer behavior, and strategy development. Through interactive sessions, students will learn how to create engaging content, analyze data-driven marketing campaigns, and develop a basic digital strategy.	13,5	1
		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC324-2	Event strategy and production	Brands and relying more and more on events to give consumers/stakeholders a real experience which reflects their values. Creating memories and unique moments, whether it be for the end consumer or a B2B client, is gaining increasing importance within companies. This course aims to teach students not only on how to actually organise events but to help them understand how an event must fit into the bigger Brand picture, aligned with its fundamental values and personality.	15	1
		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC324-3	International Media Planning & ROI (strongly skewed digital)	How do Brands make their media choices in this complex labyrinth? How do they segment their target groups when Silvers and Gen x both use the same platforms? Is there any point in still advertising in magazines and newspapers when we get our news on X? If digital is dominating how can we justify spending on any other media? So many media choices to make and all with one question – what is my ROI? How efficient was my campaign? How do I measure my conversion rate? In a constantly evolving landscape, formats are also evolving at the same rate. Video in story format are quick and creative, will the TV ad survive? These are some of the questions we will approach in our course, not only teaching the basics about media and how to plan and buy media but also asking the bigger picture questions.	15	2
		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC324-4	Digital influence/community management	Students will strengthen the basic knowledge of community management and social management: tools of community animation on social media, etc. This course will also teach how to increase audience for a brand or product with social media strategies	15	1
		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC324-5	Copywriting	Knowing how to master words is essential for any great communicator. Copywriting is of course a specific job in Advertising, but the skills learned can also be transferred and be extremely useful in many professional roles. Learning how to master the English language and transmit efficient, engaging and impactful messages through words is a powerful talent to have. In this course you will be exposed to the core fundamentals and mechanics of copywriting (direct response and branding copy). Later on, you will try scriptwriting which consists of a script-focused lecture, followed by an in-class project including storyboarding your idea and presenting your work to the class.	15	1

		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC324-6	International Press Relations - phase 1	You will learn what PR is exactly and how to plan an efficient PR campaign. You will also discover and become familiar with the Anglophone media landscape and the different target groups that they address. A great PR professional knows how to craft, deliver and sell a message both on and offline, and these are skills that you will acquire during this course.	15	1
		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC324-7	Brief, consultation, budgeting	When you work in communication, you are spending money...there is no immediate visible Return on Investment so you have to know how to budget your different actions to be as efficient as possible with your available budget and justify your spend. Knowing how to set up and monitor a budget is essential for any young professional in the communications business whether you work for the Brand or for an Agency. Students will also learn how to interpret and work on a brief	15	1
	UC 325 Digital literacy	ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC325-1	Digital law (GDPR, personal data, etc.)	This course gives the notions of digital law and the basic concepts of digital law.	7,5	1
		ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC325-2	Graphic design/video editing	This course provides students with essential IT skills for communication roles, as many employers expect proficiency in industry-standard tools beyond graphic design. By the end of the course, students will be able to prepare files for print and digital use, edit and retouch images, and create both bitmap and vector graphics.	15	1
	UC 326 - Tech	ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC326-1	AI tools monitoring- phase 1	This course explores how AI is used in international monitoring and competitive intelligence. Students will learn how tools such as AI-powered news aggregators, advanced language models, and translation systems support the collection and analysis of global information to generate consumer and market insights. The course also covers how these insights inform strategic decisions, market entry, and cultural adaptation. Through practical exercises and a mini-project, students will learn to turn data into actionable recommendations.	12	1
	UC 327 Personalized initiatives	ISC_B2-MC-TC-UC227-1	Creative Talents Track*	Voluntary participation in creative briefs allowing students to explore and develop their creativity in different areas. This option is very useful for profiles interested in a creative career because the creations produced enrich their portfolio.	0	0
UE 33 Professional Integration	UC 331 - Professional Simulations	ISC_B3-CI-EN-UC331-1	Micro-agency	One of the major projects for the 3 rd year is the Micro-Agency project. With 4 or 5 of your classmates you will form a communication agency and work for a real client on real projects. You will be advising and producing work for this client over a period of 4 months. You could be producing websites, managing social media, creating content, organising events, writing press releases...Throughout the project you will be coached and advised by a dedicated teacher. You will give an oral presentation at the end of your experience on the whole project. This real-life exercise prepares you for the professional world as well as helping you improve both hard and soft skills such as; team work, time-management, communication, negotiation skills and presentation and persuasion.	7,5	2
		ISC_B3-TC-UC331-2	Video Creative Storm	The students produce a video clip edited according to the criteria of possible virality and the resolution of the brief.	21	4
		ISC_B3-TC-UC331-3	Iscom Marketing Battle	Over the course of a week, you will work in teams to produce a marketing recommendation for a real company, usually an entrepreneur or a start-up. Students will tackle a specific marketing problem, such as client acquisition, product distribution, naming or In-store promotion for example, and together in teams, research and analyse the market, identify opportunities and build an impactful recommendation that the client can immediately apply to his business.	4	4
	UC 333 - Professional project	ISC_B3 M1 M2-TC-EN-UC333-2	Sector-specific electives x 2 (e-learning course)	Electives allow students to explore different communication sectors while gaining practical, industry-focused skills. Each student selects one module to personalize their academic and career path. Sectors include: luxury, sport & outdoor, gastronomy, tourism & travel, green tech, health & wellness, creative industries, entertainment & gaming, and humanitarian & NGOs.	15	2
