LET'S CREATE THE COMMUNICATION OF TOMORROW

#WeAreISCOM
Célia, the "Grande École" Programme

SO YOU!

ISCOM was founded in Paris in 1986, based on the strong conviction that communication is a function of management that directly contributes to company performance.

It was created as a generalist "Grande École" to prepare students to work in communication (creation, marketing, advertising, digital, events, media relations, public relations, design, influence, social and sustainable engagement), while developing their sense of commitment, critical thinking and creativity, key qualities for executive roles and responsibilities.

To enable students to learn and grow from real experience in companies nationally and internationally, ISCOM is quickly developing a network of ten campuses in France and building international partnerships with universities and companies all over the world.

Studying at ISCOM means joining a strong, solidarity-minded social and professional network; thousands of former students, families, partners, companies and teaching staff brought together as one passionate community, sharing the same values of commitment and progress that are integral to the school.

MORE THAN A SCHOOL, A COMMUNITY

#WeAreISCOM is a community
at the heart of communication, brand design and digital strategies.

#WeAreISCOM is a state of mind,
a source of energy, projects,
enthusiasm, solidarity and sharing.

#WeAreISCOM is a network
motivated by common values:
progress and commitment.

OUR COMMITMENTS

Our aim is to train considerate, responsible women and men, committed to building a better world.

We mobilise our teams to offer support adapted to each of our students, whether it be special arrangements for high-level athletes, entrepreneurs, students with a disability or a serious health condition. We can offer special arrangements to accommodate to their well being. We also encourage students to engage in mutual aid, in the form of peer mentoring between different cohorts.

A RESPONSIBLE AND SOLIDARITY-BASED SCHOOL

As a member of “Campus Responsable”, France’s first network of graduate schools and universities committed to sustainable development, ISCOM is committed to sharing best practices to mobilise its students and teaching teams to engage in sustainable development issues, improve quality of life and support the community.

To spread this culture of respect and tolerance, ISCOM regularly organises conferences under the “ISCOM Care programme”, with the aim of offering a space to speak up about major societal issues: bullying, sexual harassment, homophobia, racism, the climate crisis, conspiracy theories, etc.

Lastly, workshops to promote emotional and/or physical wellbeing are offered to students, thereby giving them the opportunity to, for example, have a free, completely confidential session with a psychologist or improve their spelling if they have a written or oral language impairment.

A CONNECTED SCHOOL

Our ISCOM campuses combine modular classrooms and collaborative and co-working spaces, which promote teamwork and creative thinking. ISCOM students learn, share and live together in places connected to My Campus, a digital campus on which they have access to various collaborative software and programmes for professional creation, as well as digital training resources.

THE “GRANDE ÉCOLE” PROGRAMME

GET THE KEYS TO UNDERSTANDING THE WORLD

The generalist and specialised “Grande École” Programme at ISCOM opens the door to all communication careers, from the more traditional to the most innovative and specific, like strategic planning, events, public and political communication, big data and innovative strategies, business and digital marketing, UX and service design, and more.

With a range of backgrounds and profiles, ISCOM students evolve in a dynamic cultural and professional environment that promotes interdisciplinarity and adaptation to multicultural contexts. Throughout the study period, inter-school and inter-specialisation workshops and challenges take place, in partnership with companies, in France or overseas.

CHOOSE THE ISCOM “GRANDE ÉCOLE” PROGRAMME

The strengths of the ISCOM “Grande École” Programme:

- a 5-year course to take the time to build your career aspirations while receiving feedback and support
- key knowledge to understand the world and its evolutions
- a 360° view of communication careers
- career-specific skills
- soft skills adapted to communicator behaviour
- professional challenges from the first year, mandatory internships in France and overseas
- English classes and international opportunities
- specialisations to deepen expertise in a professional area

THE 5-YEAR “GRANDE ÉCOLE” PROGRAMME

Using a generalist, practical approach, ISCOM’s “Grande École” Programme trains strategic, entrepreneurial, creative communicators and influencers to support brands and organisations.

“Communication Management” - Level-7 State-Certified Degree
“Creation and brand design Management” - Level-7 State-Certified Degree

The initial 4-year training is completed with a fifth and final year in work and study format, on an apprenticeship contract or on a “professionalisation” contract. The programme includes multiple internships in France and overseas, to allow students to apply their knowledge in real-life situations on the ground, in agencies, companies, or other communication structures (local authorities and institutions, associations).

YEARS 1 AND 2 TO DISCOVER COMMUNICATION, COMPANIES AND TO GET TO KNOW YOURSELF BETTER

MARKETING COMMUNICATION

In the first two years, ISCOM students learn the fundamentals of communication, drawing on knowledge from the social sciences - specifically through a psychosociology module that combines sociology, psychology and neuroscience -, deepening their general knowledge in the humanities and literature, and opening themselves to cultural differences.

They learn the fundamentals of marketing and branding as well, to implement communication strategies to foster the development of companies and institutions.

All throughout these first two years, ISCOM students also deepen their knowledge of their own personality and uniqueness, as communication careers require interpersonal skills and teamwork.

Each ISCOM student compiles their discoveries and questions in a “travel diary”, a truly useful tool to help them when choosing their specialisation at the end of the second year.

OUR PEDAGOGICAL VISION

“TEACHING MEANS TRANSMITTING THE DESIRE TO LEARN, TO BUILD TOMORROW’S WORLD TOGETHER.”

“Teaching means giving meaning, mobilising positive energy around a project, sparking exchange and reflection, interaction and co-creation. Our pedagogy draws on the art of inspiring individuals to feed their thirst for knowledge and desire to understand, and in turn to build.

Increasingly complex communication projects require work from multidisciplinary teams. As well as the many pedagogical challenges that offer the opportunity to work in project mode, we facilitate exercises between ISCOM students from different specialisations and other schools, from France and overseas.

Future communication professionals must also draw on the expression of their personality: the ability to listen to, exchange and to speak in public are some of the soft skills developed alongside communication methods, techniques and tools.

Lastly, geographic limits are erased: splitting your time between a company in Bordeaux and classes provided online by a master of political communication in Strasbourg, a gastronomy professional in Lyon or an expert of shopper marketing in New York, for example, becomes child’s play. More than ever, the school’s walls are an anchor in a world where nothing else can claim to be stable. In-person and distance learning combine with agility, to reflect a shifting professional world.”

Sylvie Gillibert, Innovation and Development Director, ISCOM

YEARS 3, 4, AND 5 TO CHOOSE YOUR FUTURE SPECIALISATION

Students start their specialisation in the third year, accompanied by deeper study of cross-functional communication methods and techniques.

From this year through to the end of their course, ISCOM students choose elective classes that allow them to be “active” in their studies, by choosing to go deeper or diversify their learning, within a specialisation.

In the fourth year, students start to fully analyse the challenges of their chosen specialisation.

Deep understanding of the world of a specialisation, experiencing professional practices and having closer contact with influential figures in the sector allows young ISCOM students to feel confident in their ability to perform their chosen profession.

During the fifth year, in work and study format, ISCOM students choose a major within their specialisation. This major allows them to acquire refined skills and sets ISCOM candidates apart in the communication labour market.

THE 5 SPECIALISATIONS

Influence and reputation

Strategic planning and innovation marketing

International communication

Digital strategy and transformation

Brand design and creation

«CITÉ DES ENTREPRENEURS»

ISCOM has created a unique entrepreneurship pathway, accessible to all, no matter their level of studies and specialisation. These sessions of talks, sharing expertise, and collaborative and learning workshops are aimed to spark entrepreneurship projects, whether individual or in groups, to introduce students to the challenges of creating a company, and develop skills naturally associated with entrepreneurship, such as autonomy, determination and perseverance.

PROFESSIONAL PROJECTS AND STIMULATING CHALLENGES

Competing consulting agency simulations, marketing games, brand strategy games, challenges: each year, ISCOM students work on creative strategies, offer marketing recommendations, create product launch campaigns and share reflections on innovative projects for start-ups, companies from all sectors, institutions, associations, etc.

Every year, the micro-agency Awards rewards the best student projects for partner start-ups and young companies.

Working in project mode, our students respond to the standards of agility expected by companies: working in multidisciplinary teams, mastering technologies and respecting short deadlines.

JEU MARKETING

“ Competitions and hours of teamwork marked my journey at ISCOM. It was hard but also super interesting and instructive. And the satisfaction after giving the oral presentation was always worth it. ”

Mailis GIROS, ISCOM 2013
Product Development & Production Manager at CECILIE BAHNSEN

PASSION FOR CREATION AT ISCOM

After the first two years practising and discovering all the creative professions, or through parallel admission to third, fourth or fifth year depending on the prerequisites satisfied during the admissions process, you will join the CREA360 programme or the creative lab LE QUATRE, depending on your aspirations, preferences and professional goals. "Creation" refers both to the action of creating and the result of this action, in the form of an idea, concept, model, app, visual, message, prototype, piece of packaging, ad spot, or anything else.

It is a beautiful, ambitious and complex thing, but it requires commitment, desire, enthusiasm and trial-and-error approach, and can be marked by doubts as well as great satisfaction. At ISCOM, your creative energy is oriented towards the professions involved in all aspects of content production and creation, in communication agencies or companies' advertising departments, as well as towards "ad design" professions.

360-DEGREE CREATIVES!

CREA360 is the creative programme that prepares students for professions in content production and creation (messages and visuals), in communication agencies or companies' advertising departments.

You will create and produce content for a brand, company or start-up. You will take a creative project from the brief to its roll-out. You can opt for a major in graphic design, motion design or web design.

CREA360 prepares students for a wide variety of professions involved in creation and production, developed within all professional structures, based on a shared foundation of artistic culture, artistic direction and solid brand knowledge.

The programme is a full 360-degree world of audacity and agility that is adapted to advertising creation professions: designing an application's UX, creating the healthy fast food brand of tomorrow, inventing the bot that will select our foodstuffs, or imagining a smart store window or the media source of the future that will be aimed at robots.

LE QUATRE

LE QUATRE welcomes creative people to evolve exclusively in the advertising world and work within a artistic director/copywriter team.

Nowadays, advertising agencies are searching for more agile profiles, ready to respond to the latest developments and familiar with digital practices. The mission of LE QUATRE is to develop the curiosity of young creative talents, to reveal the best insights and bring out creative ideas, at the service of a major brand, aiming to deliver a specific, inspiring message.

The training sessions are mainly facilitated by agency creatives staff who invite the young talents to join creative teams, at the agencies themselves, for 100% immersive experiences.

INTERNATIONAL AND ISCOM

A 100% ENGLISH CURRICULUM

Within the Grande Ecole programme, the anglophone “International Global Communications” specialisation also adds mastery of the intercultural environment to skills in management and communication. Discovering a wide range of cultures and developing soft skills are at the heart of this unique curriculum, offering an opportunity to see communications differently, led by teaching staff and professionals with international profiles.

ISCOM X STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

ISCOM and the Fashion Institute of Technology (part of the State University of New York) have developed a joint programme, “Global Marketing Communications”, which aims to train managers who are aware of international communication challenges. Open to students taking their second year at ISCOM, this selective programme brings together a cohort of students from both institutions for four semesters. The first two semesters take place at the FIT campus in New York, then the group heads to the ISCOM campus in Paris for the following two semesters.

ISCOM X WINTHROP UNIVERSITY

At the end of third year, students have the opportunity to join the American programme, run by the ISCOM campus in Montpellier. ISCOM students can choose to sit for the Bachelor of Science in Integrated Marketing and Communication, then continue with an AACSB-accredited MBA from the College of Business at Winthrop University in South Carolina, ranked among the best universities in the country.

JOINT EXERCISES

ISCOM offers many classes, challenges and exercises in collaboration with cohorts in France and those at partner schools and universities abroad (IED Milan, FIT New-York, ESA Business School, EACA, etc.). During these blended activities, students respond to a communication issue from a company in the chosen country, while discovering the academic and cultural environment at the partner campus.

A SEMESTER DEDICATED TO INTERNATIONAL EXPERIENCE

ACADEMIC EXCHANGES

A university semester overseas

Thanks to an active network of over 50 international partner universities and schools, ISCOM students have the opportunity to study abroad for a semester, with the aims of enriching their portfolio of professional, linguistic and social skills.

Erasmus+

“Hi! My name is Audrey and I am a student at ISCOM Lyon. I went on an Erasmus semester to Utrecht, in the Netherlands. It’s certainly a small city but very dynamic. My advice would be to get involved at the university with as few preconceived ideas as possible, and try to participate in as many activities as you can! Everyone can benefit from this experience.”

Audrey GEERAERTS, third year of the “Grande École” Programme

OVERSEAS INTERNSHIPS

Towards an international career

To encourage the mobility of ISCOM students, we have made an overseas internship mandatory for our third-year students. This international experience also offers an opportunity to practice a foreign language and discover a new cultural and working environment for a semester.

“Going abroad is an enriching and experience that everyone should do. It’s always a bit intimidating at first but it’s a unique and unforgettable experience. You meet incredible people and discover new cultures and working methods.

So if you have the opportunity to go, don’t hesitate, do it!”

Lilou MATHÉ, third year of the “Grande École” Programme, ISCOM Bordeaux campus
Internship at Maison Atia, NY, United States.

INTERNATIONAL PEDAGOGICAL EVENTS ALL THROUGHOUT THE COURSE

Many international pedagogical events take place throughout the ISCOM “Grande École” programme: the International Days conferences, masterclasses and workshops immerses students into the heart of trends and reflections driving the world of marketing and international communications; and Audacity Week allows them to work on real cases from international companies and present their recommendations in English to real clients.

Each ISCOM campus has partners in the banking sector to accompany students in financing their tuition fees. Students can enjoy preferential rates by contacting their chosen campus.

DISABILITY AND ACCESSIBILITY

ISCOM has a proactive accessibility policy for people with disabilities (students, teaching and non-teaching staff). With this aim in mind, ISCOM enlisted consulting services from the company HANDINORM to adapt its facilities in compliance with the 11/02/2005 Law by acting ahead of the deadlines set as part of its ADA'P (Planned Accessibility Agenda) for making public institutions accessible (Decree no. 2014-1327 of 5 November 2014). Particular attention is also paid to pedagogical accessibility - adapting classes and timetables, guidance and support, and adapting assessments and exams - to allow everyone to access our courses and certifications.

#WE ARE ISCOM

THE NETWORK'S RENEWED AMBITION
TOMORROW ISCOM

Full of experience and new ideas, ISCOM graduates today hold renewed ambition and are rethinking their role and action.

TRANSMIT

Faced with a multitude of professional opportunities and careers that are increasingly complex to comprehend, students can find it hard to choose their direction during their journey at ISCOM. ISCOM graduates have a role supporting, coaching and even mentoring the next generations.

The network is also implementing a programme for one-hour meetings with students to discuss their career and daily work in a hands-on way. Students will therefore be able to understand the reality of communication professions, and will hold the key to open the door to their goals for internships and work and study programmes and to direct their career aspirations. ISCOM graduates live by one rule: always respond to an ISCOM students.

IMAGINE

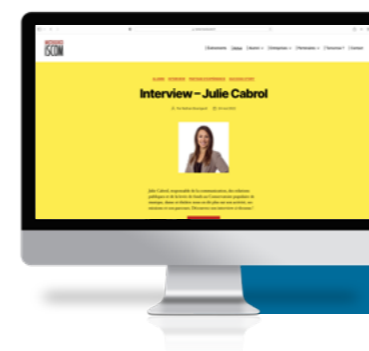

Will the “world afterwards” be different? How? In what ways? Unless you have the power of seeing into the future. What if...? What if it was up to us to dream, think, invent, and organise it? The network will hold round tables for discussion between various actors in communication - advertisers, agencies, media and institutions - to analyse changes currently underway and think about communications in the future. These exchanges will be public and followed by publications in the press as collected opinions, identifying the network as a source of reflection.

SHOWCASE

Being an ISCOM student is a source of pride. Many success stories started at ISCOM, creative projects, entrepreneurial adventures and strategic reflections. Each generation of ISCOM students is full of profiles that have marked and will continue to mark communication. The network wishes to showcase them, present them as examples and help them enhance the school's reputation.

These three working axes have a central theme: tomorrow
